An illustration of a 'Hall of Mirrors' artifact. It shows three green, insect-like creatures with large red eyes and multiple antennae. They are in a room with blue and purple vertical light beams and reflective floors. One creature is in the foreground, looking away from the viewer, while two others are in the background, one of which is looking directly at the viewer with an open mouth. The scene is framed by a dark border with star-shaped cutouts at the corners.
